INVOCATION

Heavenly Father, Teach me to seek You, and reveal Yourself to me as I seek; for unless You instruct me I cannot seek You, and unless You reveal Yourself I cannot find You. Let me seek You in desiring You; let me desire You in seeking You Let me find You in loving You; let me love You in finding You.

Amen

Presidents Message

My Fellow Rotarians, Welcome to our Pre-Valentine fellowship dinner.

We are now in the month of February, the month of hearts. As a rotarian, we aspire to reach more peoples hearts through each rotarians' generous contribution of time and money to the community. It is in this highest act of charity that we show our love and service for our fellowmen. This is one of the greatest expressions of love for humanity- service above self.

The month of February is designated in the Rotary calendar in Promoting Peace & conflict. This month gives each of us an opportunity to help come up on ways wherein we can promote peace, and understanding among people in our Community. We hope to make a project collaboration with the PNP Region-VII in order to make a bigger impact in addressing this month's area of focus.

Other lined up project for this month is to install water tank in Barangay Pasil . Their basic water needs will improve and this project will make their daily life easier by providing them water storage and help promote sanitation in their barangay.

Let us give and share to build a better community and touch more lives.

Happy hearts day to everyone!

President's message

Happy 115th birthday, fellow Rotarians and members of the family of Rotary!

Much has changed in the world since 1905. Then, the global population was roughly 1.7 billion. Today, it is 7.7 billion. There were 5 telephones per 100 people in the United States 115 years ago. In 2020, it is estimated that 96 percent of the U.S. population has a cellphone — and both China and India have more than a billion cellphones in use.

In the 115 years since Rotary was founded, seemingly everything has changed except Rotary values. We began, and remain, committed to fellowship, integrity, diversity, service, and leadership. While our Service Above Self motto dates to 1911, the ethos behind those words had already been ingrained by Rotary's founders.

As the pace of change worldwide continues to accelerate, the need for Rotary service is greater than ever. It's one thing to read about service projects, quite another to see them in action and to see the grateful faces of people who have benefited from them. Rotary projects change lives and connect the world. And over the past year, I have seen some amazing Rotary projects in action.

Gay and I visited Japan's Fukushima prefecture last year. Few places in the world have had to deal with the kind of devastation that visited Fukushima in March 2011, when a tsunami touched off by an earthquake led to disaster at a nuclear power plant. But the story of Fukushima today is not one of destruction; it is one of hope and renewal. Rotary grants have helped improve access to medical and mental health care for victims of the disaster and reduced the isolation of these communities by sharing the experiences of people from other parts of the world who have also recovered from disasters. Our grants have also helped to foster self-motivation and encourage sustainable long-term community recovery across the region.

In Shanghai, I learned about the Careers in Care program. This helps migrant workers fill the need for skilled professionals in elder care facilities. After taking a course, trainees receive certification to boost their employment prospects, while the care industry benefits from an expanded talent pool. Rotary projects like this are successful because they address a local need, and they have the potential to attract local government funding to sustain their impact.

And in Guatemala, Gay and I went to Sumpango. Global grants there provide mechanical cows to produce soy milk; an improved water distribution system; water filters; clean compost latrines; family gardens; support for income generation; and training in WASH and literacy programs. The food items sold there not only provide nutrition to women and children, but also create a source of income for local women.

In every area of focus, and in every part of the world, Rotary projects are improving lives and helping communities adapt in a time of rapid change. As we celebrate another great year for Rotary, let us rededicate ourselves to strengthening the connections that make our service so impactful. We will make lives better as Rotary Connects the World.

President, Rotary International

In Sumpango, Guatemala, workers demonstrate the mechanical cow. Many children in Guatemala are lactose intolerant, and soy milk is a substitute for cow's milk.

A message from Foundation Trustee Chair
Gary C.K. Huang

Ni hao, Rotarians!

Since ancient times, people have built communities around water. Having the ability to draw clean, fresh water from a well means that a village has staying power and the ability to endure hard times.

Wells are vital to people worldwide, but as a metaphor, they are just as powerful. What is The Rotary Foundation's "well"? From what source can we draw to replenish ourselves to keep up with all of the amazing global grants saving lives around the world?

The Rotary Foundation well is our Endowment, of course. We are building a very deep, strong well that will ensure funding for major projects for generations to come. A strong endowment will ensure the long-term financial stability of our Foundation and provide essential resources to help deliver even more outstanding humanitarian service into the future.

We are aiming high with the Building TRF Endowment: 2025 by 2025 initiative to build an endowment of $2.025 billion by 2025. By then we expect the Foundation's Endowment to have a minimum of $1 billion in net assets, with the balance in expectancies and bequest-type commitments.

Imagine the good we will be able to do with a $2 billion Endowment! The investment earnings will provide about $100 million annually for Rotarians to do all sorts of life-changing projects around the globe, year after year.

Together, we can make this happen. As much as the world changes around us, the well of The Rotary Foundation will stand the test of time and keep making a positive impact on the world.

Confucius took great pleasure from water. He said: "Great water can continuously move forward without stopping. It is so kind as to irrigate the lands everywhere it goes, yet it does not regard itself as having performed outstanding feats. It's just like virtue."

Speaking of accomplishments, the Rotary Club of Shanghai just celebrated the 100th anniversary of its founding. And the club just reached another great milestone: its first Arch Klumph Society member, Frank Yih. Gōng xǐ to our friends in Shanghai!

QUESTIONS ABOUT

Programs of scale grants with K.R. “Ravi” Ravindran

Chair-elect, Trustees of The Rotary Foundation

1 What are the key elements of programs of scale grants?

This is a new type of grant intended to provide measurable and sustainable solutions to issues affecting many people in a large geographic area. Every year, The Rotary Foundation will award a $2 million grant to one project that aligns with one or more of Rotary’s areas of focus. The grant will support project activities for three to five years.

These grants do not require an international Rotary partner. However, applicants are expected to work with partners outside Rotary, such as nongovernmental organizations, government entities, and private-sector institutions. These partners may assist Rotarians at any stage of program development, and we encourage them to contribute funding. While Rotary is required to have a leadership role, our partners must have “skin in the game.”

Finally, proposals for this grant type must demonstrate that similar projects have been successfully implemented. In turn, it should be possible to replicate the grant-supported project in other communities with similar needs.

2 Why did Rotary create this new grant type?

We wanted to complement the existing grant types with one that would benefit a much larger community. Programs of scale grants challenge Rotarians to think big and to work with other organizations to find comprehensive solutions to large-scale issues. As we’ve learned from the PolioPlus program, if you want to make a significant impact, you need to have partners who are willing to jump in with you.

For example, in Sri Lanka, we have been working on a project to eliminate cervical cancer. My club, the Rotary Club of Colombo, had set up a cancer detection center. We then partnered with the Rotary Club of Birmingham, Alabama, on a global grant that funded HPV (human papillomavirus) testing machines. In addition, we brought in the University of Alabama at Birmingham to train staff, a leading telecom company to fund the construction of a new facility, and the Sri Lankan government to cover the cost of vaccines. In 2018, the project ensured that 83 percent of all 10-year-old girls in the country were vaccinated.

The power of Rotary is much greater when we partner with like-minded organizations. This project involves multiple partners at a national and international level that are working together to prevent disease on a massive scale. Programs of scale grants give Rotarians the opportunity to replicate achievements like this one.

3 How does the application process work?

Rotary clubs and districts are invited to submit a proposal for a fully developed program, including proof of concept, baseline data from a community assessment, and ongoing monitoring and evaluation plans. Proposals are due 1 March. Those with the strongest proposals will then be invited to submit an application by 30 June.

Proposals and applications will be reviewed by a committee that includes members of The Rotary Foundation Cadre of Technical Advisers and other subject-matter and grants experts. The Trustees will then consider the recommendations of the selection committee and will make the final award determination at their October meeting.

4 How will we measure the success of these grants?

The fundamental thing is that anything we do must benefit the community. Success will be measured in the ultimate impact of these grants on recipient communities. It will also be measured in Rotary’s ability to position itself as a leader in implementing solutions to long-standing development issues, especially in partnership with other organizations that represent the values and aspirations of Rotarians.

— JOHN M. CUNNINGHAM

A Dose of Positive Thoughts

MARICEL BORRROMEO-AMORES GML Editor -In-Chief, District 3860 President, RY 2017-2018

You often come across a situation where you tell yourself that “ this is not for me but for the brilliant minds only “- a misconception of our definition of “brilliant mind “ has been a badly misused term that obfuscates both what one can actually achieve and what is required to make them work. Hence, when one is faced with the unacquainted circumstances, one can easily lose sight of the indiscriminating pursuit to resolve and face it head on.

But if you believe in yourself, anything and everything is possible because one cannot fail at being “Yourself”. You must go and drink from the deep well of energy which is through your natural instincts more than any other source to achieve what needs to be achieved...to resolve what needs to be resolved. My missive , then, might come as a welcome respite to those who have been struggling with their frustration over the foregoing notion. The barrier to liberate oneself from the idea that if one does not have a genius mind to capture the highest possible solution then surrender at first attempt forsaking the opportunity to face the challenge.

On the contrary, if one must be deeply committed to eradicate the foregoing premise and instill a purpose that not only provides a sense of direction but can relatively easily articulate a meaningful purpose and route then you will be assured of a more confident and successful solution. Every now and then it always seemed impossible until it is finished and done.

There should be no iota of doubt that we can as we were created out of the likeness of a perfect God who has blessed us with unlimited talents and opportunities.

How to stop fake news, in three easy steps

GUT-CHECK: Did the headline or image you just saw make you feel a strong emotion? Misinformation is designed to do just that. Before sharing, click the link and check it out. If you're unsure about it, don't share it or react to it.

FACT-CHECK: What is the original source of the information? Are any familiar news outlets publishing this story or photograph? Does a reverse image search turn up different sources for a suspicious image? What do independent, nonpartisan fact-checking sites like Snopes, PolitiFact, or FactCheck.org have to say?

READ REAL NEWS: News institutions like those we revered in the Watergate era are still producing top-quality journalism. Subscribe to a variety of reputable publications and get your information directly from those sources — not through social media.

CORONA VIRUS

Myths and Facts

Myths

Corona is the most dangerous virus that exists.

I will die if I am diagnosed with the Corona virus.

I need to buy a hazmat suit and a n95 mask to stay protected.

We all need to panic and blame China for this emergency. I should also make insensitive jokes about international students.

I should believe everything I read online about Corona virus because it is all factually checked and written without any bias.

Facts

The common flu kills 60 times more people annually than Corona.

Only 2% of cases have reported deaths and most of these deaths were associated with weaker immune systems (e.g. old age).

Washing hands and sneezing into elbows is the best practice.

The panic and hysteria that's happening is fueled by racism and xenophobia, not evidence or practicality. Nothing justifies being rude to others.

Misinformation and racism is more dangerous than any virus; check for references and look for evidence, not ideology.

2019 NOVEL CORONAVIRUS Acute Respiratory Disease (2019-nCoV ARD)
