Quote for the Week

President's Message

To support the launching of the Club's premier project, Prism for Autism, RCCF continuously created noise to drum up awareness and understanding of Autism. A radio ad was arranged in coordination with DYRF and Power FM 89.1 for one month. The Club co-presented the Webinar entitled Sensitivity and Tourism Education. Flipcharts containing signs and symptoms of Autism will be distributed to the different barangays as soon as clearance is obtained from the City Health Officer. Scheduled on January 29, 2021 are the turnover of: paints from Island Paints; tiles, and toilet fixtures from Savers Depot; aquatherapy pool, and basaid from Fritz and Pearle Strolz.

Fellow Rotarians, as of January 23, 2021, our Club has completed 27 projects, and more are still in the pipeline. No less than District Governor, Riezl Reyes, declared that we have already achieved RI citation.

Come February 22, 2021, we will have our Club Assembly with our AG Amor Tomakin as guest. This meeting will serve as a rehearsal for the eventual Governor's visit on March 1, 2021.

Let's prepare and show the Governor what we have done for the community to merit the existence of our Rotary Club.

Thank you very much.

JANUARY IS FINALLY HERE. AS we look forward to 2021, our thinking doesn't have to stop at the end of these 365 days. Are you thinking ahead about what you will be doing in 2022, 2023, and beyond?

We cannot foresee the future, but we can steer ourselves where we want to go. I think it is important that every Rotary club hold a strategic meeting at least once a year. Past RI Director Greg Yank, who has a lot of experience working with clubs on their plans, shares his viewpoint.

A famous aphorism states, "By failing to prepare, you are preparing to fail." Planning is essential to achieving success in all areas of life, including Rotary, and we're getting better at it every year.

Strategic planning for Rotary clubs works. I have helped many clubs find that pathway by working with them to build what I call a blueprint, a multiyear plan that answers the fundamental question: "What is our vision for our club?" The best plans I have seen are those that are focused, when a club concentrates its resources on the best opportunities it has. Your Rotary club cannot be all things to its members and to the community it serves; it has limited human, financial, and time resources. A successful plan factors in assets and limitations to chart the desired pathway for your members.

Begin building a multiyear strategic plan by brainstorming with your club, asking, "What are our initiatives and priorities for the next two to three years?" Document your answers using action-oriented language that is specific, concrete, and measurable about the goals you want to achieve.

Next, narrow down your initiatives to a core set of three to five priorities. Your club will then develop specific objectives for each initiative, outlining who will be involved, key milestones of achievement, how progress will be tracked, and a timeline for completion. Keep your plan short and simple.

Then go out and do it. Review the progress you make toward accomplishing the initiatives, and revise as needed at least once a year. Rotary has a solid template to assist clubs in their planning, which you can find at my.rotary.org/document/strategic-planning-guide.

We want to enrich and enliven our clubs with new discussions and ideas. But how do we attract the diverse professionals, from different backgrounds, ages, and experiences, who are all driven by as strong a sense of integrity as we are?

Through strategic planning, we explore this question to define the very nature of our club and the value it offers to its members and to the community. Each club is different, and each club's value will be unique. During the planning process, clubs may also find that some of the activities they used to do are no longer relevant or attractive.

Once your club makes a strategic plan, it's time to take action and carry out the necessary changes. When we do that — as we engage members in vibrant and active clubs that not only have fun but also serve their communities with projects that have real and lasting impact — our clubs grow stronger. And when we discover what makes our own clubs unique and build upon those core values in all our efforts, Rotary Opens Opportunities to enrich the lives of everyone.

TRUSTEE CHAIR'S MESSAGE

The gift of a healthier environment

Having grown up amid lush green forests in the mountainous landscape of Sri Lanka, I always recall the words of the great poet Rabindranath Tagore: "Trees are the earth's endless effort to speak to the listening heaven."

How sad that so often we humans insist on interrupting this conversation.

Just like every other living thing, we are a part of nature. But we are also the only species that bears the responsibility of protecting the environment for future generations. The coronavirus pandemic has shed light as nothing has before on the relationship between environmental degradation and threats to public health.

A few years ago, the government-owned electricity company in my country planned to build a second coal power plant, in eastern Sri Lanka. It would suck 93 million liters of water per hour from a bay where fragile ecosystems meet the deep sea, the site of one of the largest spawning grounds for sperm whales in the world. After processing, those 93 million liters per hour would be dumped into the ocean, now loaded with toxic chemicals that put that marine life at great risk.

Learning from the lessons of the damage caused by the first plant, a coalition formed, made up of many public advocates, including Rotarians. They ran a campaign that alerted the media, the public, and the local community to the potential dangers, in addition to taking legal action. The government eventually abandoned its coal plant idea after the resulting public outcry.

We can truly move mountains when we come together.

When some of us moved to add the environment as Rotary's newest cause, we did so because of the urgency of the problem. In 1990-91, RI President Paulo V.C. Costa set forth a vision, and today we will take this work to the next level. We live in a time of great stress on our environment, of rapidly rising sea levels, massive storms, disappearing rainforests and wildlife, and destructive forest fires. Climate change touches us all, rich and poor.

We will face the challenge strategically, as with the other areas of focus. In fact, the six other areas of focus depend on this one. For what good is it to fight disease if our polluted environment causes us to become sick again?

The Rotary Foundation will be central to this work. More than $18 million has gone toward environment-related global grants in the past five years. Building upon this work to protect the environment, we will give yet another Rotary gift to future generations. And you can be a part of it today.

HANDBOOK

Online events are here to stay. Make yours a success in 6 easy steps

Beginning in early 2020, Rotary club and district meetings, training sessions, events, and even the Rotary International Convention went virtual to accommodate stay-at-home orders related to COVID-19.

When networking and fellowship moved online, Rotary members mastered new skills and discovered different ways to connect. They also realized how adept they are at adapting. “COVID-19 pushed Rotary to evolve more quickly than it might have otherwise,” says Louis Turpin, 2016-17 governor of District 7210 (New York). “It was a bit of tough love.”

Anyone can set up an online event. But it takes planning to organize one that achieves your goals and engages your audience. Here are six steps to ensure that your event is successful.

— MAUREEN VAUGHT

Step 1 WHAT ARE WE HERE FOR?

Do you want to train club leaders? Are you celebrating the beginning of a new Rotary year? Or do you simply need to communicate with your fellow members on a regular basis?

Defining your goals will help you choose the best resources for the job. When Turpin, a 2019-20 district trainer, began organizing a virtual presidents-elect training seminar, he combined webinar sessions on Zoom with courses offered in Rotary’s Learning Center. “Begin by understanding what resources already exist,” says Turpin.

Step 2 LOCATION, LOCATION, LOCATION

The platform you choose might depend on your budget, the number of participants, and your goals. Zoom can accommodate as many as 1,000 participants and allows you to record your meetings so you can post the event on YouTube, your club’s website, or a team portal for people to view later. There are other web conferencing platforms, so investigate your options — and learn about their features, such as audience polling, screen sharing, and breakout rooms.

TIP: If your participants speak a variety of languages and you need interpretation in more than one direction, Rotary recommends using KUDO (kudoway.com).

Step 3 IT’S NOT AN ENDURANCE TEST

Screen fatigue is real. Offering shorter sessions spread out over a longer period can keep participants engaged and help them retain the information you’re presenting.

The multidistrict PETS that Turpin helped coordinate ran over the course of four weeks. Most weeks featured two hourlong training sessions: one for assistant governors and another for presidents-elect.

TIP: Start your meeting 30 minutes before the scheduled event — or extend it 30 minutes after — so participants have a chance to socialize online.

CHECKLIST

- 1 Test your equipment — is your internet strong, your audio clear, and your video working?
- 2 Mute your audience during your presentation.
- 3 Sit up straight and use hand gestures sparingly.
- 4 Use visuals, but keep them simple and varied.
- 5 Engage your audience with questions and polls.
- 6 Practice, practice, practice.

Adapted from Ragan.com

Rotary has resources to make it all easy. At brandcenter.rotary.org, you'll find:

- Learning Center courses

At my.rotary.org/rotary-global-rewards, you'll find:

- Rotary Global Rewards discount for Zoom

Step 4 IF YOU PROMOTE IT, THEY WILL COME

Don't rely on habit to make sure members attend your event: You have to do some boosting. To help promote her district training assembly, Kirenjit Kaur, past governor of District 3300 (Malaysia), recruited some of her district's younger members, who publicized it on Facebook, Instagram, and YouTube. Kaur also tapped into members' competitive nature with challenges designed to encourage participation.

Step 5 SHORT ATTENTION SPAN THEATER

Polls and quizzes, question-and-answer sessions, and virtual breakout rooms can all help hold participants' attention. Encourage participants to submit questions in advance so you can respond to them throughout your live event.

And make sure your event is accessible to individuals with a variety of abilities. Caption videos and transcribe audio content. If you use a "whiteboard" feature, narrate what's being captured to help participants with visual impairments, or those who are joining by phone, to understand what's being shared.

TIP: If you want participants to interact with presenters and each other, keep groups small and limit the amount of content you present.

Step 6 CALLING TECH SUPPORT

To help its clubs stay connected and engaged, District 6440 (Illinois) created a new club leadership position: virtual meeting coordinator. "We needed to have someone at the club level who could coordinate the meeting and provide one-on-one support to members," says Past District Governor Bruce Baumberger. As of this writing, about 85 percent of the clubs in the district have appointed someone to this position.

ROTARY DIRECT: EASY, FAST, SECURE

The Rotary Foundation's recurring giving program, Rotary Direct, makes your regular giving faster, easier to manage, and even more secure. You can schedule a monthly, quarterly, or annual donation that empowers Rotarians to change lives in communities close to home and around the world.

ROTARY ACTION GROUPS

Rotary Action Groups help clubs and districts plan and carry out community development and humanitarian service projects in their areas of expertise. The groups are organized by Rotarians, Rotaractors, and Rotary Peace Fellows with skills and interest in a particular field. Membership is open to anyone who wants to share their expertise to make a positive impact. Action group members have the opportunity to engage in meaningful service activities outside their clubs, districts, or countries. Clubs can draw on these groups to enhance projects, engage members, and attract new ones. Find out more by emailing or visiting the website of the group you're interested in or by writing to actiongroups@rotary.org.

Virtual fundraiser platform debuts

In September, The Rotary Foundation launched Raise for Rotary, an online platform that allows Rotary members and supporters to create easily shareable, custom fundraisers in support of the Foundation. It is Rotary's own platform for peer-to-peer fundraising — a model that empowers organizers, attracts new donors, and increases awareness of causes.

With Raise for Rotary, individuals or teams can set up fundraising campaign pages to facilitate donations. Campaigns can be customized to celebrate a special occasion, to commemorate a person or event, or to encourage a challenge or pursuit. In its first three months, Raise for Rotary hosted more than 400 fundraisers, ranging from supporting peace-building in honor of the United Nations International Day of Peace to a stationary bike team marathon that collected more than $18,000 for polio eradication.

Visit rotary.org/raise to create and promote a fundraising page by following these steps:

- Choose an individual or a team fundraiser and the occasion or reason for the fundraiser.
- Select a Rotary Foundation cause — the World Fund, the PolioPlus Fund, the Disaster Response Fund, or one of Rotary's areas of focus — and set a donation goal.
- Personalize the fundraising page with a title and description, and add images, photos, or videos.
- Click to post the page on social media or email to family members, friends, neighbors, and colleagues.
- Share fundraising updates along the way.

Raise for Rotary is available in English and accepts donations in U.S. dollars. (Additional languages and currency options will be available later this year.) Rotary members who donate using their My Rotary account email will be eligible to receive donor credit. For questions, email raise@rotary.org.

Putting our participants first.

We want all Rotary participants—our members and any others who connect through Rotary activities—to feel engaged and fulfilled by their experience, whether they've been with us for one day or five decades. But we know that isn't always happening. It's time for us to take action.

Let's ask our participants what they're looking for in Rotary, and follow through with opportunities that provide value. That's how we'll keep people contributing and coming back for more.

What we will do.

Develop new ways to measure engagement and incentivize club improvement

Create new products and offerings that offer more and better value

---

Build leadership skills by working with other organizations like Toastmasters International

---

Offer new personal and professional engagement opportunities
