Dear RCCF Family,

Greetings!

There is indeed much to be celebrated this week for we shall welcome into our fold (3) new servant leaders who will continue the story of RCCF. I extend my personal thanks to AG Maricel and Sec. Jomar for having brought brave and well-meaning individuals into the service of Rotary.

Incidentally, we shall also take this opportunity to re-orient ourselves on what Rotary truly stands for in the backdrop of its colorful and impactful history. May we be all inspired by the excitement of our new members as we reflect on our individual journey as Rotarians who have now contributed to the legacy of Rotary in changing lives for the better.

Thanks and best regards,

GREETINGS, MY DEAR CHANGEMAKERS,

I am sure you are having an enriching experience as you Serve to Change Lives. One of the ways you can make the greatest change in a person's life is to help them learn to read.

Literacy opens up the world to us. It makes us better informed about life in our own communities and opens vistas to other cultures. Reading and writing connects people and gives us another way to express our love for one another.

September is Basic Education and Literacy Month in Rotary. Enhancing literacy skills is critical in our pursuit of reducing poverty, improving health, and promoting peace. In fact, if all students in low-income countries left school with basic reading skills, it would result in a significant cut in global poverty rates.

Without education, illiterate children become illiterate adults. Today, 14 percent of the world's adult population — 762 million people — lack basic reading and writing skills. Two-thirds of that group are women. Literacy and numeracy skills are essential to obtaining better housing, health care, and jobs over a lifetime.

Especially for girls and women, literacy can be a life-or-death issue. If all girls completed their primary education, there would be far fewer maternal deaths. And a child is more likely to survive past age 5 if he or she is born to a mother who can read. Improving outcomes for more people worldwide is possible only if countries remove barriers to education for girls. The economic argument for doing so is clear: In some countries where schooling is geared toward boys, the cost of missed economic opportunity is more than $1 billion per year.

Empowering people through education is among the boldest goals we have as Rotarians. We don't have to travel far from our homes to encounter those whose lives are being curtailed because they struggle with reading, rely on others to read for them, or cannot write anything more than their own name.

Starting this month, consider how your club can Serve to Change Lives through literacy: Support local organizations that offer free programs to support adult literacy or local language learning, or that provide teachers with professional development centered around reading and writing. Become literacy mentors, or work with an organization like the Global Partnership for Education to increase learning opportunities for children around the world. Have conversations with local schools and libraries to see how your club can support their existing programs or help create needed ones in your community.

In India, the TEACH program, a successful collaboration between the country's Rotary clubs and its government, has demonstrated how to scale up literacy efforts to reach millions of children. And at a time when schools across India were closed due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the program's e-learning component reached more than 100 million children through national television.

Literacy is the first step out of poverty. As Nobel laureate Malala Yousafzai has noted, "One child, one teacher, one book, and one pen can change the world."

Shekhar Behra

President, Rotary International

TRUSTEE CHAIR'S MESSAGE

If you can dream it, you can do it

Malala Yousafzai is a young Pakistani activist for the education of girls and women. As a teenager, Malala, whom the world knows by her first name, courageously spoke out for the rights of girls to learn. Extremists in her country disagreed with Malala, and she was shot by a Taliban gunman on her way home from school.

But the attack didn't dissuade her; it made her more determined. As soon as she recuperated, she resumed her mission of education activism. Today the Malala Fund supports education through projects around the world.

Not only is Malala an inspiration for Rotary members, we also have some commonalities: a drive to do what is right, a passion for literacy, and the power to transform dreams into reality.

One of my life mottos is: If you can dream it, you can do it. This applies to everything Rotarians do, particularly with The Rotary Foundation. We literally make our dreams happen.

Like Malala, we know that literacy is, for many, the first step out of poverty. To put our vision into action, we first understand a community and the unique problems of its members, and then form a partnership with them. Next we join forces with others — exchanging ideas with clubs in other districts, and working with people and organizations outside of Rotary.

Our solution, in the form of a district grant or global grant, will be tailored for that community. And if it's a Rotary grant, you can bet it will be well-planned, strategic, and most of all, sustainable. We want that gift of literacy to not be a one-time book donation but a plan to transform a community over time.

Over the years, I have seen countless literacy efforts in Rotary, from national programs to local projects. When the global COVID-19 pandemic hit last year, many clubs took action to help communities adjust to online schooling, including providing laptop computers. Rotary's solutions are endless, our volunteers tireless. And if I know Rotarians, I know that more solutions are being created as I write these words.

Rotary's passion for literacy and education projects is well-known. So is our commitment to make them happen. You, through Rotary, are a big part of helping people take their first step out of illiteracy, out of poverty, and into something much better. Remember, if you can dream it, you can do it — just like Malala.

SERVICE ABOVE SELF

THE OBJECT OF ROTARY

The Object of Rotary is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise and, in particular, to encourage and foster:

First The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service;

Second High ethical standards in business and professions, the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations, and the dignifying of each Rotarian's occupation as an opportunity to serve society;

Third The application of the ideal of service in each Rotarian's personal, business, and community life;

Fourth The advancement of international understanding, goodwill, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional persons united in the ideal of service.

THE FOUR-WAY TEST

Of the things we think, say, or do:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

ROTARIAN CODE OF CONDUCT

The following code of conduct has been adopted for the use of Rotarians:

As a Rotarian, I will

1. Act with integrity and high ethical standards in my personal and professional life
2. Deal fairly with others and treat them and their occupations with respect
3. Use my professional skills through Rotary to: mentor young people, help those with special needs, and improve people's quality of life in my community and in the world
4. Avoid behavior that reflects adversely on Rotary or other Rotarians
5. Help maintain a harassment-free environment in Rotary meetings, events, and activities, report any suspected harassment, and help ensure non-retaliation to those individuals that report harassment.

CLUB TYPES, FORMATS, AND MODELS

All Rotary and Rotaract clubs share similar values and a passion for service, but each offers a unique experience. When you start a club, you'll need to choose a club type, a meeting format, and a club model. Look at the needs of your community and the club's prospective members to decide which kind of club would be best.

CLUB TYPE: First, determine whether your new club will be a Rotary club, a Rotaract club, or a satellite Rotary or Rotaract club.

Club type	Description	Appeals to	Charter member minimum
Rotary club	Professionals and other leaders who meet regularly for service, connection, and personal growth Read about a successful Rotary club.	People who are looking for friendship and service opportunities Learn more in the Starting a Club online course.	20 required
Rotaract club	Adults who take action through community and international service, learn leadership skills, and develop professionally Read about a successful Rotaract club.	People, especially younger professionals and university students who want to develop leadership skills, find innovative solutions to pressing issues, and have fun through service Learn more in the Rotaract Handbook .	12 recommended
Satellite club	A section of a Rotary or Rotaract club that has its own meetings, projects, bylaws, and board, run in collaboration with its sponsor club Read about a successful satellite club.	Those who want a club experience or a meeting format or time other than what's offered by other clubs in the area but also appreciate the support and partnership of another club Learn more in the Guide to Satellite Clubs .	8 for a satellite Rotary club; no minimum for a satellite Rotaract club

MEETING FORMAT: Next, determine whether your club will meet in person, online, or both.

Meeting format	Description	Appeals to
In person	A club that meets in person	Those who consider face-to-face interactions an important part of the meeting experience or who aren't comfortable with or don't enjoy online meetings
Online	A club that meets primarily online Read about a successful club that meets online.	People who travel frequently, have circumstances that make it difficult to meet in person, or prefer an online experience Learn more about online club meetings .
In person and online	A club that holds some meetings in person and others online, or one that holds in-person meetings that some members attend virtually Read about a successful club that meets in person and online.	Those who have various needs or who want a mix of experiences

CLUB MODEL: Finally, determine the approach or elements your club will offer. You can choose a model below or design your own.

Club model	Description	Appeals to
Traditional	The traditional club experience includes having a meal, hosting a speaker, and practicing traditions that members value; traditional clubs often have higher dues because of venue and meal costs Read about a successful traditional club.	People who want to socialize over a meal while learning about a new topic or an opportunity to serve the community
Passport	A club that allows members to attend other club meetings frequently as long as they attend a specified number of its own meetings each year Read about a successful passport club.	People who travel frequently or who enjoy trying a variety of club experiences and meeting lots of people Learn more in the Guide to Passport Clubs .
Corporate	A club whose members (or most of them) work for the same employer Read about a successful corporate club.	Employees of one organization who want to do good in their community
Cause-based	A club whose members are passionate about a particular cause and focus their service efforts in that area Read about a successful cause-based club.	People who want to connect with others while addressing a particular set of problems
Alumni-based	A club in which a majority of members (or a majority of charter members) are former Rotary program participants, or former Rotaractors or Rotarians Read about a successful alumni-based club.	People who have participated in Rotary
Interest-based	A club that focuses on a particular interest or hobby Read about a successful interest-based club.	People who want to enjoy Rotary in a specific way or focus on a shared interest or activity, such as professional development for members
International	A club whose members are expatriates or who speak a common language other than the primary language of their district, or an online club whose members are from different countries Read about a successful international club.	Expatriates who want to connect with each other using a common language, or those who want to connect with people from all over the world or want other international experiences from their club meetings

President RY 2017-2018

This particular quote would seem paradoxical, a little absurd, and throw in ironic when we look at things on the outside or the physical. Remember the childhood fairytale of Snow White and the Seven dwarfs... her stepmother would go to the mirror and ask, “Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the fairest of them all?” Believe it or not, everyone goes through life like that as we always need that confirmation or a stamp of validation that we are beautiful, great persons, and all the positive superlatives that you want heaped on you every day.

Thus, if you recall when you were in your teens, a pimple on the face seemed like the world has crushed you...because you felt that your outer shell is about to break. And so what.. you may ask? The anxiety that your true inner self will be exposed, judged, and condemned are things people are anxious about unnecessarily. The trepidation in the distress of the opinion of others should not be your foundation of making changes of your outer selves, behaviors, and sense of style. Determining your lifestyle, habits, and changes should be a pivotal decision coming from within you. Prevaricating and fibbing will make you static and cannot unleash the “dynamic you” that is waiting to come out.

“If an egg is broken by an outside force, life ends.
If broken by an inside force, life begins.
Great things always begin from the inside.”

PCPSUGAR

Real and beautiful changes can only come from inside you. Be confident that whatever is deep within you is far more better than the outer hollow shell that covers you. There is no one else except God who can say that this is the right decision for you. Yes, it is true that you may be wrong in some of the decisions you make but it is alright. Stand up and then make those decisions right from the lessons you have learned.

To quote, Mark Elliot Zuckerberg, an American media magnate, internet entrepreneur, and philanthropist, known for co-founding Facebook, Inc. “Move fast and break things. Unless you breaking stuff, you are not moving fast enough.”

HOW TO HOST A SUCCESSFUL VIRTUAL/IN-PERSON MEETING

Six tips from TGIG,
a Rotarian-run nonprofit
that helps clubs
adopt new technologies

(an overhead view)

Use what you have
Many clubs already use a projector and big screen for in-person meetings. Use it to display the online audience or remote presenter to the group gathered in person.

Set up a tech team
Ask members to volunteer for a team that will set up and manage the technical aspects of the meeting each week.

Don't be afraid to ask questions
For personalized help, send an email to team@tgig.org.

Pay attention to the audio
Your online audience needs to be able to hear you. Download a step-by-step tutorial on how to set up the ideal audio environment at tgig.org.

Show the room
Use a webcam or even a smartphone as a separate camera to allow the online audience to see the people in the room.

Broadcast live
By placing a laptop on the lectern in front of the room, you can use its camera and microphone to allow your presenter to communicate with your online and in-person audiences simultaneously.
