Dear RCCF Family,

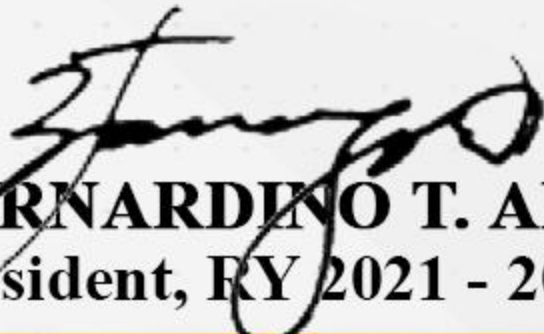

Greetings!

We highlight this month the good that we give to humanity through the Rotary Foundation. For considerable years now, we have heralded the call to end polio and we ought not to get tired to continue the same until this world is rid of this disease.

We are fortunate that our very own PP Alain Senerpida is the District End Polio Now Coordinator and he so generously gave us his time for an update on the fruits of our contribution to the fight against polio. May his exposition encourage us further to support this worthy cause and to take it upon ourselves to add up to our club's contribution to the End Polio Fund. Lest we forgot, I remind everyone that our End Polio Fund giving is one of the measures in gauging our compliance with the District Challenge.

Let's get ready to be inspired!

Thanks and best regards,

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

November 18 Glen & Haile Elendrino

GREETINGS, DEAR CHANGEMAKERS OF ROTARY,

I first discovered the value of service when I saw how a few simple acts can immeasurably change lives. It began when I joined others in my club for a project to bring toilets and clean drinking water to rural villages near our city. It moved forward when we promoted sanitation and provided opportunities for education across the country, thanks to generous gifts from supporters who believed in our projects as much as those of us on the ground did.

There is no better time of the year to be reminded of that generosity than November, which is Rotary Foundation Month.

As the charitable arm of Rotary International, The Rotary Foundation is the engine that powers so many Rotary projects throughout the world. The Foundation transforms your gifts into projects that change lives. It is the Foundation that helps us to get closer to our goal of eradicating polio, to show more people how we promote peace through tangible actions, and to demonstrate the impact our projects have in our areas of focus.

Consider some recent projects that were made possible by the Foundation:

- The Rotary clubs of Guatemala La Reforma, Guatemala, and Calgary, Alberta, received an $80,000 global grant to organize a comprehensive plan to train nurses and rural health care workers to prevent and treat cervical cancer and to implement a sustainable system of referrals in seven regions of Guatemala.

- More than two dozen hospitals in Honduras received personal protective equipment for their medical staff thanks to a $169,347 global grant sponsored by the Rotary clubs of Villa Real de Tegucigalpa, Honduras, and Waldo Brookside-Kansas City, Missouri.

- The Rotary clubs of Cotonou Le Nautille, Benin, and Tournai Haut-Escout, Belgium, received a $39,390 global grant to provide agricultural training at an ecologically responsible permaculture mini-farm connected to a center for children in Sowé, Benin. This will help a new generation of farmers become economically self-sufficient.

I like comparing The Rotary Foundation to the Taj Mahal, a monument of one man's love for a woman. The Foundation is a dynamic monument of our love for all of humanity.

This month I am asking all Rotary clubs to bring attention to the Foundation. It is what connects all Rotarians worldwide and transforms our collective passions into projects that change lives. Visit rotary.org/donate; once there, you will have an opportunity to give directly to the program you're most passionate about.

Thank you for giving your all to Rotary. You are the reason that Rotary is able to do more and grow more. Let's continue to represent that important legacy this month, this year, and beyond as we Serve to Change Lives.

TRUSTEE CHAIR'S MESSAGE

Do you know your Foundation?

When people ask me what The Rotary Foundation is, I tell them it's the heart of Rotary. You may have heard before that Rotary has an intelligent heart. The Foundation combines our emotional response of compassion with pragmatic action. With both heart and brains, you can change the world.

So, what does the Foundation mean to you? November is Rotary Foundation Month, but do you really know our Foundation?

First, it truly is our Foundation. The Rotary Foundation doesn't belong to me or the other 14 trustees, nor to the RI Board of Directors, nor to the RI president. It belongs to each Rotarian around the world.

And it's there for all of us to change the world. We save mothers and children because we have compassion, and we know how to plan. We provide clean water and sanitation where they're needed to those who need them, because we build strategies based on a community's needs. We combine support for peace, education, and economic stability for at-risk communities with an ability to manage big projects.

Giving to the Foundation is smart, too, because in doing so, you multiply the value of that gift. How many other foundations can you think of that identify the projects, fund them, and run them on the ground themselves? Ours is the only one I know. And we get it all done at such a relatively low administrative cost. This is one reason Charity Navigator consistently gives the Foundation a four-star rating.

I sometimes get asked a question: How much should I be giving to the Foundation? Each year, make a gift of what you can afford to give. For some, that is $100, and for others, more. What's most important is that you give something, because each generous gift helps us meet the increased demand we're seeing from members for global grants and our other programs.

This year, we want to raise $50 million for PolioPlus, which will be matched 2-to-1 by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, for a total of $150 million. If every Rotary club contributed just $1,500, we would surpass this goal. We have other goals as well — for the Annual Fund, the Endowment Fund, and outright gifts — adding up to a grand total of $410 million.

We will get there if we set our hearts — and minds — to it. But remember, it's not about the money; it's what the money can do.

There's a saying that goes, "I alone cannot change the world, but I can cast a stone across the waters to create many ripples."

The Foundation is that stone, so let us turn ripples into great waves with it, using our hearts and our minds.

SERVICE ABOVE SELF

THE OBJECT OF ROTARY

The Object of Rotary is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise and, in particular, to encourage and foster:

First The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service;

Second High ethical standards in business and professions, the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations, and the dignifying of each Rotarian's occupation as an opportunity to serve society;

Third The application of the ideal of service in each Rotarian's personal, business, and community life;

Fourth The advancement of international understanding, goodwill, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional persons united in the ideal of service.

THE FOUR-WAY TEST

Of the things we think, say, or do:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

ROTARIAN CODE OF CONDUCT

The following code of conduct has been adopted for the use of Rotarians:

As a Rotarian, I will

1. Act with integrity and high ethical standards in my personal and professional life
2. Deal fairly with others and treat them and their occupations with respect
3. Use my professional skills through Rotary to: mentor young people, help those with special needs, and improve people's quality of life in my community and in the world
4. Avoid behavior that reflects adversely on Rotary or other Rotarians
5. Help maintain a harassment-free environment in Rotary meetings, events, and activities, report any suspected harassment, and help ensure non-retaliation to those individuals that report harassment.

When Judy Gross saw an online ad from someone seeking help with yardwork, members of her Rotary Club of Central Ocean Toms River, New Jersey, were ready to step up. In the ad, local resident Coreen Onnembo-DiLea explained that she was having a hard time keeping up with a garden that brings joy to her 99-year-old father, Achille "Acky" Onnembo, a U.S. Coast Guard veteran who served in the Allied invasion of Normandy in 1944. On a Saturday morning in April, six club members showed up with shovels, mulch, flowers, and stones. "Little did I know I'd hear from a team of superhumans that would handle the entire project," Onnembo-DiLea wrote in a letter to the club.

Three clubs — Rotary, Rotaract, and Interact — collaborated on a cookbook project organized by the Rotary Club of Haliburton, Ontario. Ursula Devolin, the club's New Generations chair, thought about what members could do during a pandemic: "Everybody's been cooking through COVID-19, and it seemed to me it would be nice to have a community cookbook." Interactors from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and members of the Rotaract Club of Haliburton Highlands illustrated and designed the spiral-bound book; members of all three clubs collected the 84 recipes inside. Book and ad sales generated about $2,800 for the Mahatma Gandhi Sishu Siksha Sadan school near Kolkata, India, which the Rotary club has supported for about 15 years.

The Rotaract Club of Belgrade Čukarica spotlights men's health with dramatic flair. For several years, the club has staged a play as part of the "Movember" global initiative — "m" is for "mustache" — which has funded more than 1,250 health projects. Penned and directed by doctor and former club member Emilija Ivančajić, the play, Men and Other Problems, adopts a lighthearted approach to serious matters such as suicide and prostate and testicular cancers. The event went on hiatus because of COVID-19, but the 2019 production drew an audience of some 300 people. "All club members act in the play, with special guests from other Rotaract clubs in District 2483," says Kristina Zejak, the club's immediate past president.

Long after a vocational training team helped Nepali schoolteachers make the most of their Rotary-funded library and computer lab, the initiative continues to pay dividends. "The resource center is helping to manage online classes in this pandemic time, even in the rural areas of Nepal," says Rabindra Thapa, a member of the Rotary Club of Kathmandu North, which joined the Rotary Club of Stowe, Vermont, in the global grant-supported project at the Shree Ram Secondary School in Koshidekha. Carolyn Holcombe Damp, a past volunteer at the school, enlisted her partner, Larry Heath of the Stowe club; her sister, Joan Holcombe; and Didi Kearsley — all retired educators — for the team's trip in late 2017. They stocked the facility with some 1,500 books, 15 laptop computers, and other equipment. The Stowe club and District 7850 each provided $10,000; The Rotary Foundation added $15,000 in funding for the project.

For girls in the developing world, a lack of safe transportation can be a barrier to education. At the Ndevelwa Secondary School outside Tabora, Tanzania, for instance, "typically only the boys had the benefit of bikes to help with the journey," says Elizabeth Demichelis, a member of the Rotary Club of Modesto Sunrise, California. "Thus the concept of pink bikes was born." The Modesto Sunrise club, with help from the local Rotary Club of Arusha, arranged for the bicycles to be made available to girls; the conspicuous color is a theft deterrent. The girls, their families, and the head of school signed contracts denoting responsibility for the care of the assigned bikes.

Modern-day nomads from two RV fellowships hit the road for Rotary

RECREATIONAL VEHICLES (RVs) — some of which are known as caravans outside North America — range in size from the iconic aluminum-trimmed 1940s teardrop camper trailers to today’s Class A motorhomes with multiple bedrooms. The next time you see one on the highway, look closely: You might spot a Rotary wheel on its bumper. More than 1,600 Rotarians participate in two international Rotary Fellowships devoted to the RV and caravanning lifestyle.

In 1967, some British Rotarians traveled to the Rotary International Convention in Nice, France, via caravans. That group went on to start the International Caravanning Fellowship of Rotarians (ICFR), which today has more than 750 members, mainly in the United Kingdom.

American RV enthusiasts began a United States fellowship in 1972. Today, the International Recreational Vehicle Fellowship of Rotarians includes some 900 members from the U.S., Canada, parts of Europe, and Australia.

Both groups come together several times a year for regional and national rallies, and often for annual meetings during Rotary conventions.

We thoroughly enjoy the freedom caravanning gives us. Just travel 30 minutes away from your home base and you are at the start of an enjoyable and relaxing break. We’ve been caravanning for 30 or so years and never tire of it.

SERVICE STATION

► When our RV broke down in Westfield, Massachusetts, we used Rotary’s official directory to find the closest club to call for help. Within an hour, the club president arrived with a mechanic. For the next three days, while we waited for needed parts to arrive, we were guests at a club meeting and were hosted at members’ homes.

— Jack and Vivian Harig, Rotary Club of Akron, Ohio

► Heavy rain greeted us when we arrived at a site in the Lake District in northwest England. In the morning we woke up to find 3 to 4 inches of water all the way around the van. Rotarians had placed a plastic duck in the water and built a path with stone chippings so we would not get our feet wet. It’s all about fun and fellowship.

— Bruce Wallace, Rotary Club of Billingshurst and District, England, and ICFR president

Having local Rotarians involved is the key to opening doors to interesting places that you might not be aware of or couldn't access on your own. An added plus is meeting local Rotarians and attending their meetings.
— Keith Dindinger, Rotary Club of La Mesa, California

MOBILE MEMORIES

► During an annual rally in Memphis, Tennessee, we took a tour of the city and of Sun Studio, where Elvis got his start. And we had Elvis — well, maybe it was him? — join us for our evening BBQ meal, after which we made a donation to local first responders for safety equipment they use while they are on the road.
— Alexander-Anderson

► Each rally has a different makeup of people. What could be better? New places, meeting new friends, and greeting those we've known for a while.
— Susan Maifield, Rotary Club of Cary-Grove, Illinois

► The beautiful Loire River Valley in central France was the site of one of the most memorable rallies I've attended. It was held over 12 days near Chenonceaux, and there was much wine and cheese. One of the highlights was beating the French on the site at their traditional game of boules.
— Stewart-Clarke

► We always meet fellow Rotarians who are keen to exchange club banners. As part of a Down Under tour some years ago, we were visiting some remote caves when I was approached by an Indonesian Rotarian who had noticed my pin badge. I could not exchange banners, as I had none, but she gave me one anyway. We are still in email contact years later!
— Stewart Gilbert, Rotary Club of York Ainsty, England

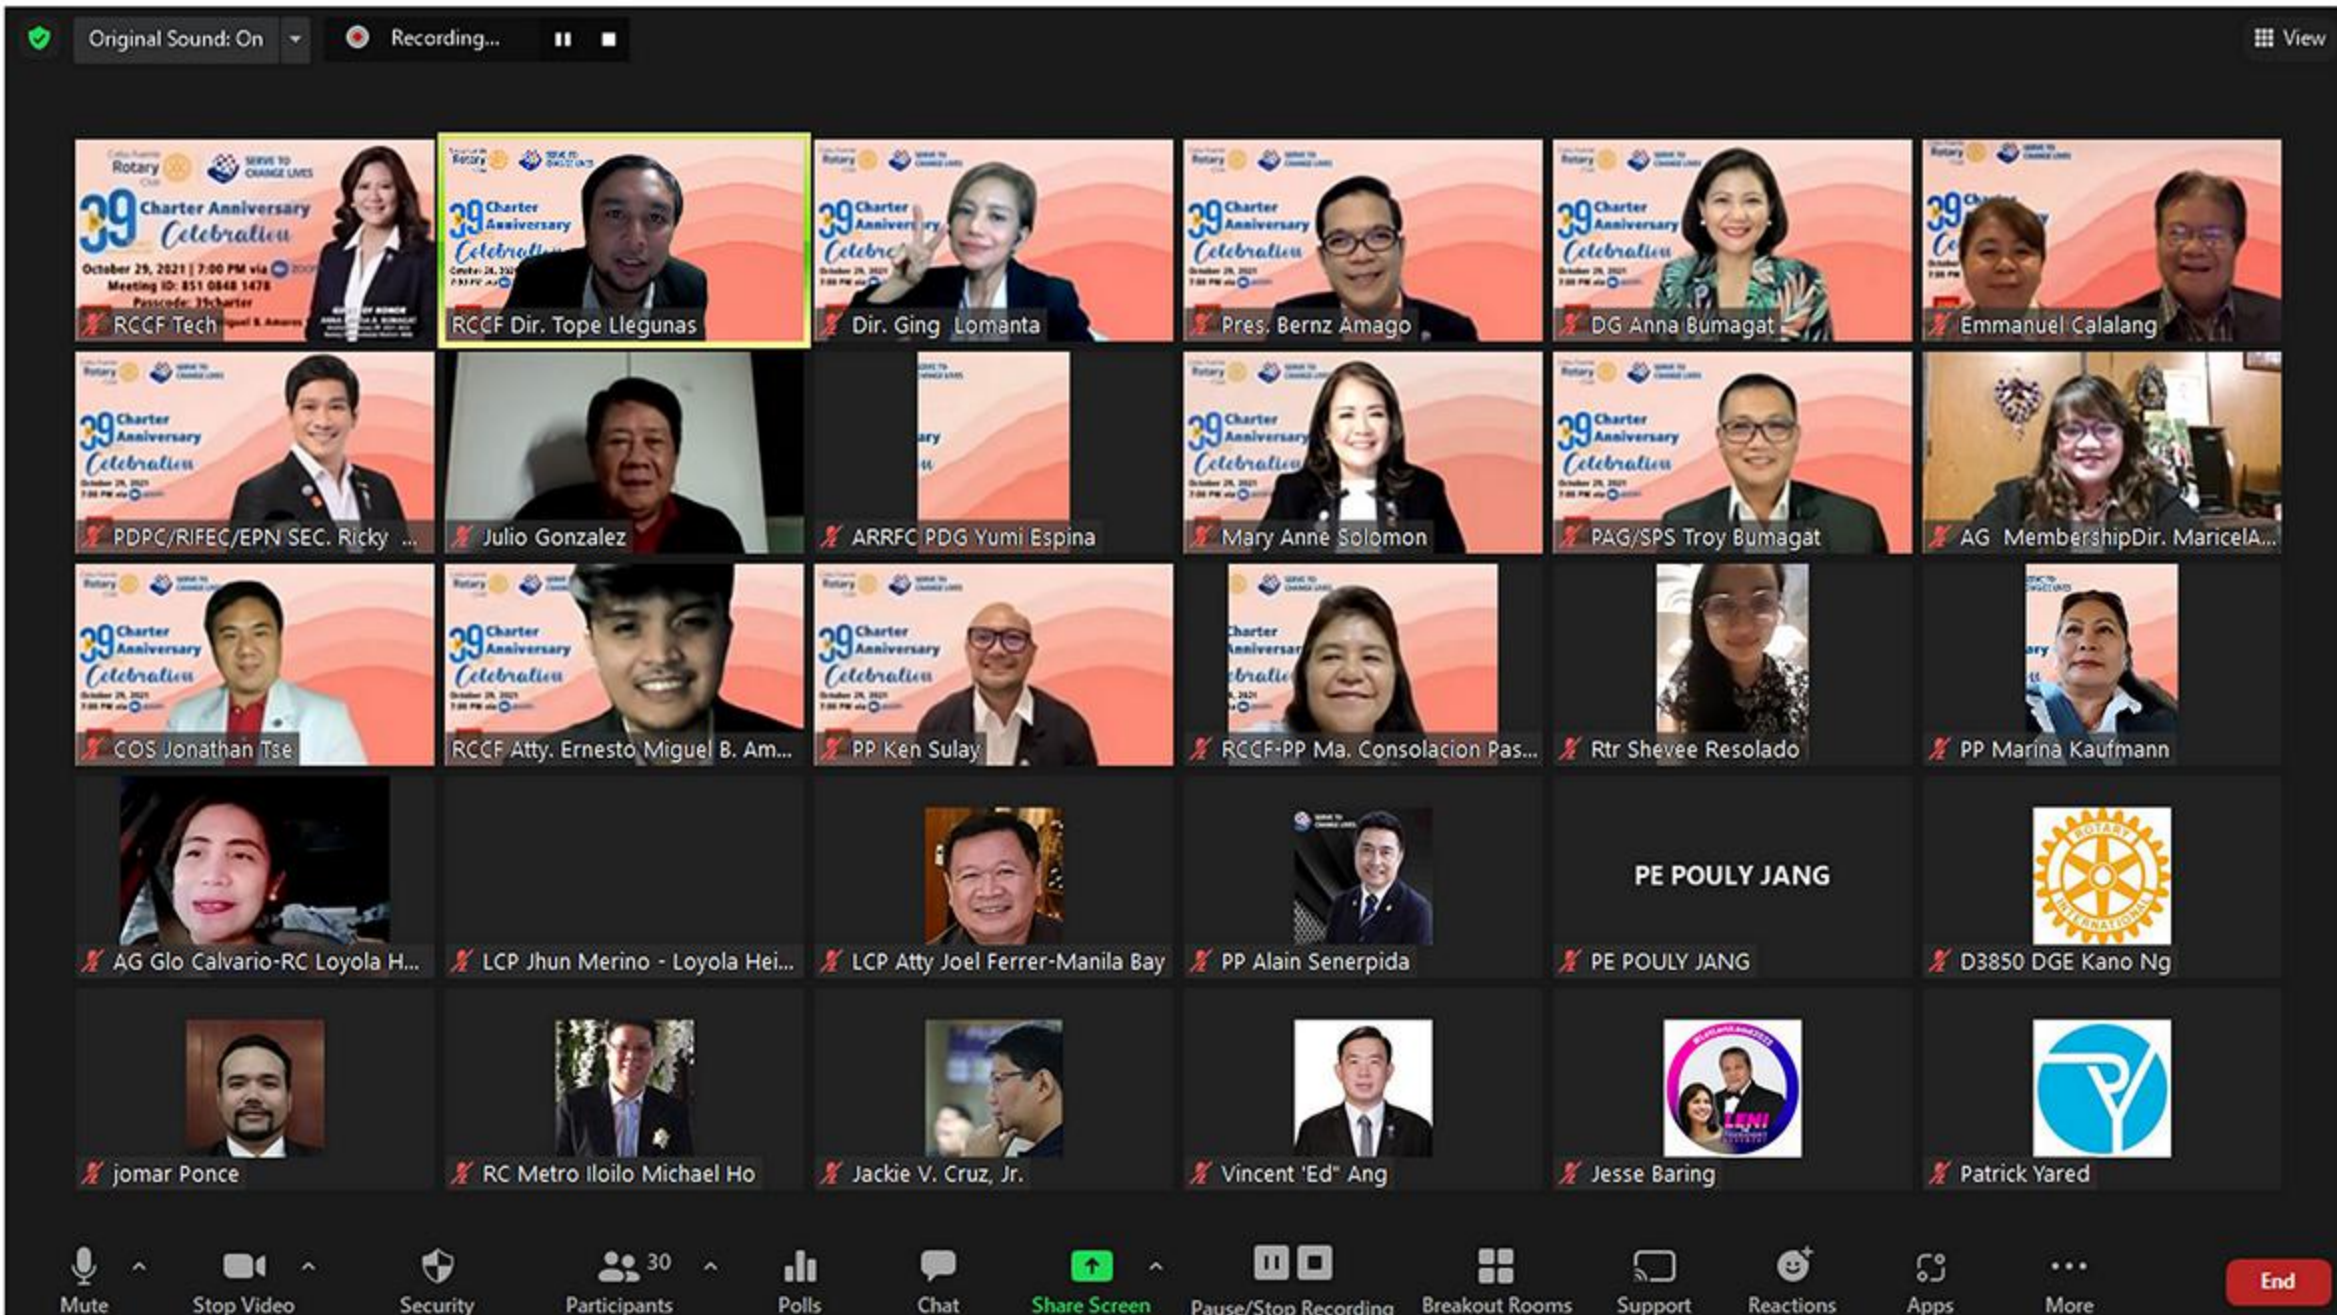

In 2019, we went to Germany for the Rotary Convention and traveled as part of a seven-RV caravan, using rented RVs for 1,100 miles around Germany and into Prague.
— Sandra Alexander-Anderson, Rotary E-Club of the Southwest, Arizona

“My feelings as we set off are always the same: Where will we end up this time and who will we meet? I have traveled in most European countries, Russia, the U.S., and Australia, and it amazes me how much we have in common.”

#Rotary22

A leader's powerful communication necessitates predicting roadblocks and discovering straightforward techniques to trim down or dissipate them. Roadblocks to good communication may happen even with the best preparation and intention. They get in the way of our ability to communicate successfully.

Realistically, no great leader was born innately a good communicator but it is a skill that you can learn and truly practice.

Hence as you learn this skill, it is also important to anticipate the common roadblocks. To name a few, we have the disrupting environment, not actively listening, and not understanding good proxemics.

In a disrupting environment, remove the disturbances and distractions that would hamper you to state your message clearly. It can befuddle others and may sidetrack the true gist of said message. In short, set the environment to promote clarity in your communication.

Another roadblock is not actively listening. When we are not actively listening because we are already preparing our reply to what the other person is saying, there is the tendency to miss the true message and worse misconstrue what the other person is telling us. To help dissolve this communication roadblock, try these simple tips that often help build rapport, understanding, and trust. You may use the approach of Restating: example - "You were saying that it is best to respect each other's Presidential candidate." Or try this technique of Reflecting: example "So, you think deeply about how this has been handled by our supervisors." Understanding good proxemics which means it involves the dynamics of spatial relationships between people, will not pose as a roadblock. Some of the basics is to be careful not to invade into another's space, respect their culture like for example in the US, one needs to stand between two to four feet from the other person, or in Europe their sign of greeting would be kissing your cheeks thrice. Respect the dynamic you are establishing between you and the other person based on proxemics and adapt accordingly.

Groom yourself to be a great leader that inspires effective communication. Reinforce the spirit in our choice of words and how it will come across to others. To be a leader who is a powerful communicator, you need to be able to swiftly ascertain and keep away from pushing someone's hot buttons by rearticulating our communication, so it doesn't elude a negative response. Communicating effectively is driving through a wide-open highway, to freely cruise your way and surmounting the roadblocks along the way, to the person's heart and mind.
