RCCGM's Drive for a Clean Environment & Healthy Food

Implementing a clean-up drive in the beneficiaries' backyards and encouraging them to plant vegetables instead of weeds is a great way to promote nutrition and sustainable practices within the community.

By providing consistent education and follow-ups during our weekly visits, we're not only imparting knowledge but also ensuring that the beneficiaries understand the importance of maintaining a clean environment and cultivating nutritious food.

Collaborating with barangay officials and nutrition scholars shows a holistic approach to addressing nutrition issues and fostering community involvement. This teamwork helps in ensuring the success and sustainability of your program.

Moreover, the motivation we've instilled in parents to plant the seedlings given to them demonstrates the positive impact of our efforts. Encouraging selfsufficiency through gardening not only contributes to better nutrition but also empowers families to take control of their own well-being & take care of their environment.

Keeping them informed about the progress, challenges, and impact of the initiative is crucial. This visit serves as an opportunity to share detailed reports, statistics, and success stories regarding the program's implementation. It allows for discussions on any hurdles faced, seeking potential solutions and garnering support from local authorities.

Moreover, it's a chance to express gratitude for their backing and explore ways to further enhance the program's effectiveness.

Building this communication channel helps maintain transparency, strengthens partnerships, and ensures collective efforts toward combating malnutrition in the region.

AMOMA SA KAUGMAON UPDATES

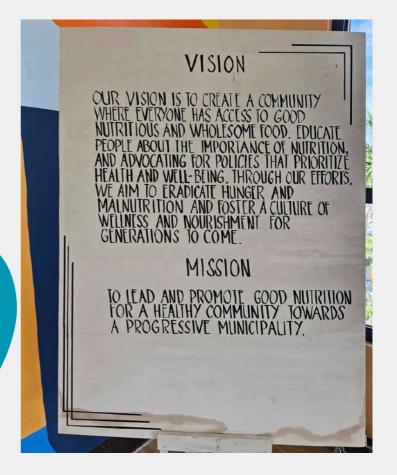

Rotary Club of Cebu Gloria Maris represented here by their president, Gay Marie Mercado-Tiu, did a recent visit to the Mayor of Balamban, Mayor Ace Binghay and the Nutrition Head of Asturias, Ms. @Haidee Encarguez-Inting to provide updates on the ongoing Malnutrition Program.

An Inspiring visit...

Noticing the alignment between the mission of the Nutrition Head's office in Asturias and the goals of the Amoma sa Kaugmaon Malnutrition Program is incredibly encouraging. Taking a picture of this convergence could serve as visual evidence of shared objectives and a common vision in addressing malnutrition.

Highlighting this synergy emphasizes how both entities are working toward similar aims, potentially indicating potential collaboration opportunities or ways to leverage each other's resources, expertise, or strategies to amplify the impact of the initiatives.

Sharing this observation can reinforce the significance of collective efforts and inspire further dedication to combating malnutrition through collaborative, aligned approaches.
