Let us Pray

Father God in heaven, I ask You to fill us with Your Spirit and give us the courage to speak in the meeting if we have reason to and that the meeting would be in the best interests of everyone involved. Open our minds to the ideas of others and open our ears to hear the words of others and to make fair assessments of what others might say and to treat with dignity and respect everyone who is present and for this I pray and in the most glorious name of all names, Jesus Christ, Amen.

RY 2019-2020

To my fellow Centralites, Spouses and Guests, Greetings!!

Its been two months into this new rotary year but for me it seems already half a year already with all the Rotary activities I have been to. Last August 24 , 5 Japanese Rotarians from RC Akigawa, Tokyo attended our 44th Charter Anniversary. Special thanks to VP Tadashi and Sec Maychelle Kanda for facilitating their visit. They were also able to visit our proposed project in Tamugan. We hope it will materialize. PDG Art Tan, DMC Chi Uy, PP Ron Rellosa, PE Jerome Camiña and IPP Mike Zurita played golf with the 3 japanese while the 2 others were having a city tour during the day. We celebrated our Charter Anniversary that night and it was well attended. It was a night of honoring, which befits the 44th anniversary of our club.

My heartfelt gratitude to PP Arthur Escalante for the whole tuna you donated, making the event more special. My special thanks as well to PDG Art Tan for donating 1 lechon for the August 25 Paradise Island outing with the Japanese Rotarians . We capped the month of August with a bang. In the morning of August 31, DMC Chi Uy, PP Gerry Napalit and VP Spouse Carmen .PE Jerome Camina and Spouse Jenn with rotakid Jemmet, Power Spouse President Jean Desales , IPP Mike Zurita and yours truly distributed relief Goods to the talomo flood victims. BASIC EDUCATION AND LITERACY MONTH

Celebrating decades of commitment to education and literacy

By Azka Asif, Rotary Service and Engagement Staff in collaboration with Susan Hanf, Rotary Heritage Communications Staff

Education and literacy throughout Rotary's history

In March 1930, Ray Lyman Wilbur, the United States Secretary of the Interior, asked Rotary and other service organizations to take an active leadership role in the reduction of illiteracy in the United States. Rotary Clubs across the US took Wilbur's request seriously:

The Rotary Club of Martinsville, Virginia, sponsored a talent show with proceeds supporting adult literacy classes.

Members of the Rotary Club of Blairsville, Pennsylvania offered a class on reading and writing for local adults.

The Rotary Club of Ada, Ohio, surveyed the educational needs of children and adults in a nearby farming community and with the help of other local service organizations, began offering classes in reading and writing.

During the 1930-31 Rotary year, Rotary clubs began to recognize the importance of supporting general education. The Rotary Club of New Orleans, Louisiana, USA, established a loan fund to help boys finish high school, and by August 1930 had helped to fund the high school educations of nearly 100 boys.

In 1962, Rotary brought literacy and education to the forefront of club service activities once again, and clubs submitted information on initiatives they had undertaken in support of literacy and education. In El Salvador, the Rotary Club of Santa Ana established a school to improve literacy in the region; in the United States, four area schools received books, paper, chalkboards, pencils and other teaching materials from the Rotary Club of Indianapolis, Indiana. The Rotary Club of Anand, India, reported an ongoing program of supplying teaching materials to schools.

Starting in 1965, matching grants provided financial support for clubs and districts, making it possible for them to undertake larger-scale projects. One early grant awarded under this program had a unique educational focus. Sponsored by the Rotary Club of Jerusalem, Jordan, this project provided materials in Braille for blind persons using the Arabic language.

Throughout the 1970s, education and literacy continued to be a popular area of focus for Rotary clubs. Taking note of the rising number of literacy and education based service projects conducted by Rotary clubs worldwide, The Rotarian dedicated much of its April 1979 issue to these efforts. One of the projects profiled was in Venezuela, where the Rotary Club of Chachao funded and built the Paul Harris Library, which provided local citizens with books as well as classes in art and literature.

Looking towards our future

Rotary's strong support for literacy and education based initiatives has extended into the 21st century. When we launched our new grants program in 2013, education and literacy was identified as one of the areas where we would focus our support. Today, foundation funded projects meet new criteria, engaging and involving the local community and focusing on creating a sustainable impact. In 2014-15, The Rotary Foundation awarded 133 grants in the area of education and literacy, totalling $8 million!

A woman traces letters on a slate. The Rotaract Club of Sullurpet, India, developed an adult literacy program to teach 40 people in that community to read and write. Appeared in This year the foundation is celebrating the centennial, 100 years of Rotary members changing lives and improving communities all over the world. Members have supported thousands of projects to improve basic education and literacy.
