Let us Pray

Heavenly Father, we come to you tonight asking for your guidance, wisdom, and support as we begin this meeting. Help us to engage in meaningful discussion; allow us to grow closer as a group and nurture the bonds of community. Fill us with your grace, Lord God, as we make decisions that might affect individuals. And continue to remind us that all that we do here tonight, all that we accomplish, is for the pursuit of truth for the greater glory of You, and for the service of humanity.

We ask these things in your name, Amen.

GREETINGS FELLOW CENTRALITES, SPOUSES, FRIENDS AND GUESTS

I am happy to inform you that we had a very successful ROTARY WEEK. The cooperation among different clubs as well as the various activities conducted were remarkable. Thank you very much for your cooperation and participation a trademark of every ROTARIAN.

I would like also to congratulate our ROTARACTORS for their successful annual concert last February 13, 2020. Our club is so blest for having bunch of talented Rotaractors.

I am pleased to announce the status of our two remaining projects, the water sanitation and day care center. Our water sanitation is on the last stage for plumbing works. For day care center, the survey was already conducted as a compliance for the building permit requirements. Our club is closely cooperating with the Self-Help Society of Isla Verde Tibungco community regarding this matter. Also, our service partner the University of the Immaculate Conception (UIC) through the office of Community and Development donated an amount of Php 50,000.00. The amount is ready for release anytime. This is a support for the construction of our day care center. A Million thanks to UIC!

For our scorecard update, we need two things: 1. RYLA participant and 2. Induction of Rotaract to Rotarian. Our club has already identified prospects.

Fellow CENTRALITES let us continue to attract prospect service partners. May it be local or international. As we continue to serve the community through various projects, let us invite and attract our friends to join us in this advocacy. Let us spread this good virus of serving the humanity.

LET US KEEP THE FIRE BURNING!

Guest Speaker

DMC Jose Fortunato F. Uy

A Global Thirst for Water

Growing up in northern Ghana, a particularly arid region of a parched land, Braimah Apambire saw how a lack of access to water can sap a community's vitality – and how something as simple as a catchment or pump can transform lives. Apambire, director of the Center for International Water and Sustainability at the Desert Research Institute in Reno, Nev., USA, will be a featured speaker at the Water and Sanitation Rotarian Action Group (WASRAG) World Water Summit on 30 May in Sydney, Australia.

THE ROTARIAN: How did you get involved in water issues?

APAMBIRE: In my village, Zuarungu, we do not have a lot of rainfall. In the dry season, three or four months of the year, we had to walk several miles to get water. My sisters, mother, and aunts would fetch the water; the boys were responsible for driving the cattle about 4 miles to and from a reservoir in the morning and evening. That affected our schooling. When I was about 12, the Canadian International Development Agency drilled about 2,600 wells in the region. I could see the change in peoples' lives. My mother and aunts, for example, had time to go to the village market to sell food. I got my bachelor's degree in geology and worked for a hydrologist installing water systems, and then I went to Canada for my master's degree. [Apambire also holds a PhD in hydrology from the University of Nevada, Reno.]

TR: How acute is the lack of access to safe water?

APAMBIRE: An estimated 740 million people globally do not have access to what we call improved water sources. About two billion people do not have access to safe drinking water that has been tested for chemicals and microbes. An estimated 88 percent of childhood illnesses are related to contaminated water and poor sanitation, and about 5,000 children die every day from that and poor hygiene practices.

TR: What advances are helping to improve access to water?

APAMBIRE: We're seeing more cell phone- and Internet-based technology to monitor water systems. Rainwater harvesting also has received a lot of attention. But even with the technology, you need to have the sanitation framework. If the village gets access to water, no matter how safe, you may still end up with behaviors that contaminate the water source. The community needs to know the link between contamination and disease.

TR: How crucial are partnerships, such as the ones fostered by WASRAG?

APAMBIRE: In developed countries, water is still taken for granted. In the United States, we each use about 100 gallons a day – showering, drinking, and watering lawns. You turn on the tap and you're not even aware you're wasting it. In Africa, the average is about 5 gallons of water a day, and many people don't even have that, or if they do, it's often contaminated. I've seen Rotary building capacity and strategies around water. WASRAG has good projects that work with local people, using appropriate technologies and building sustainability. Because Rotarians are influential, they are bringing that attention. They also focus on where the need is, among the poorest of the poor.
