July 5, 2023

Vol. 2, issue 1

In 1932 Rotarian Herbert J. Taylor created the Four-Way Test, a code of ethics adopted by Rotary 11 years later. The test which has been translated into more than 100 languages, asks the following questions:

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

The Object of Rotary

re-written for modern members

To promote the idea that service is valuable and, in particular, to encourage and foster:

- 1 The opportunity to build friendships while serving your community
- 2 High ethical standards in business, the value of different occupations and the use of each Rotarian's professional skills in giving back
- 3 Incorporating service into every aspect of a Rotarian's life - personal, business and community
- 4 Increased cultural understanding, goodwill and peace around the world through a unified goal of community service

The club's President, along with its dedicated members, awarded three impactful service projects aimed at bringing hope and positive change to the lives of children in need.

Bright Beginnings: Registering Hope for Underprivileged Children
In an effort to ensure every child has access to basic rights, the Rotary Club of San Francisco launched the "Bright Beginnings" project. Recognizing the vital role of registration, the club aims to provide them with ID cards. Through partnerships with Municipal Civil Registry, the club will organize the bureaucratic hurdles and facilitate the registration process, offering them not just a pathway to a better life but also a chance to thrive.

Smiles of Care: Hygiene Kits for Happy Kids
Recognizing the importance of personal hygiene in children's overall well-being, the Rotary Club of San Francisco initiated the "Smiles of Care" project. The club aims to distribute hygiene kits to children in underserved communities, promoting good hygiene practices and preventing the spread of disease. This became possible with the partnership of Mid City Pharma. These kits, consisting of essential items such as Vitamin, toothbrushes, toothpaste, soap, and sanitary products, will empower children to maintain their health, dignity, and self-confidence, creating smiles that reflect their happiness and well-being.
