Invocation

Almighty and Loving Father, You sent Your only begotten son to this lowly earth to become like us, a mortal man. As if that was not degradation enough, He even suffered and died ignominiously on the cross so that others may have life and have it more abundantly.

As we embark on our community service projects, teach us to take the words of the modern day martyr, Martin Luther King:

"No man has to live until he can rise above the narrow confines of his individualistic concerns to the broader concerns of humanity.

Length without breadth is like a self-contained tributary having no flow to the ocean.

Stagnant, still and stale, it lacks both life and freshness, in order to live creatively and meaningfully, our self-concern must be wedded to other concern."

Almighty Father, grant us therefore, the boundless zeal of the missionary and the selfless generosity of the biblical widow who offered to share her little mite so that we will be transformed in thought, in words, and in deeds into what genuine and true followers of Christ are so beautifully called: the MEN FOR OTHERS. Amen.

Rotary Information...

The Four-Way Test isn't a tool to judge others

By Martin "Marty" Postic Jr., past governor of District 5750 and a member of the Rotary Club of OKC Sunrise, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, USA

In our contentious society, I see friends who are members of Rotary use The Four-Way Test to support opposing political and social arguments and to criticize the thoughts, statements, and actions of others. I see members with completely opposing viewpoints use the same Four-Way Test to both support their argument and demean others. Rotarians and others are using all forms of social media to share their opinions about perceived violations of The Four-Way Test, causing others to pile on additional comments and insults, all with little thought to how this affects our public image. Which leads me to this basic premise:

The Four-Way Test is a mirror, not a window

Rotary members should not use The Four-Way Test to look at others but rather to look at themselves in considering the ramifications of a thought, statement, or action. It should not be a window through which we look to judge others. It is a mirror at which we look to judge ourselves.

The argument I've heard Rotarians make is that if they determine some thought, statement, or action violates any part of the test, it is their duty to declare that thought, statement, or action wrong. I have heard The Four-Way Test used to support any number of topics, some which readers would find hard to support. Yet through the Internet, one can cobble together any sort of argument to back any thought or concept with a plethora of "facts."

I do not believe that is what The Four-Way Test is about. I believe the test is more about how we treat each other than how we measure ideas.

Of course, it is a challenging standard. It's difficult to keep from thinking something. But what is more important is how you act on that thought. If you think to yourself, "I don't like this person," it becomes a matter of what you do with that thought. You can try to dispel it as well as any urge to take some negative action to satisfy your dislike of the person. You can also decide whether you say something to that person or tell others what you think.

This is where social media distorts things, because society now seems to embrace negative, vitriolic, or fake comments – as long as the comments agree with our own views. Posting such comments even in the name of The Four-Way Test is certainly not FAIR to all concerned and definitely does not build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS.

This brings me to the realization that using The Four-Way Test to argue political and social issues is in itself contrary to the test. We must never use the test to support a position while opposing or berating someone else's position. We should not use The Four-Way Test to support or oppose contentious "hot button" issues, to comment on political discord, or to respond to another's comment.

We need to teach The Four-Way Test to all of our friends. We don't need to preach it. Rotary takes pride that it is a non-political, non-religious organization. That has allowed us to make inroads in parts of the world where governments and religious organizations can't. Let's not sully Rotary's reputation by using these 24 words of ethical and moral thought to tear each other down.

The President's Corner

Emmanuel "Noel" Villa-Abrille
Club President

Warm greetings everyone!

One week to go and it will be our charter anniversary! I am sad to announce that the dance presentation by yours truly and the members will no longer push through. It is with a heavy heart that I have cancelled such for unavoidable reasons. But do not despair, as both our Rotaract Clubs, school and community based will have their own dance numbers to present during our Charter Anniversary. I know they will give it their all to show their dancing prowess.

One month more and it's DISCON time. Thank you for all who have registered . Looking forward to all the fun and jolliness during the said event.

Next week will be the celebration of the Rotary Week. All are invited to join the activities for the celebration. There will be a mass, motorcade, zumba program and many more. See you all during these events.

Our Guest of Honor & Speaker...

Annabelle P. Yumang, MDMCH, CESO IV
Regional Director
Department of Health, Regional XI

Our speaker echoes the essence of service, dedication and compassion.

Every doctor's story is one different story. The undertakings to reach her status both as a professional and more importantly, as human being is always special and memorable.

Her achievements even when she was still a student are truly commendable as they mirror her great sense of commitment, hard work and passion. Finished her primary and secondary education at Holy Cross of Bansalan, took up her pre -medical course at San Pedro College, and she is a product of Davao Medical School Foundation.

Our speaker spent her life immersing in the grass-root beneficiaries of her profession, reaching out to the outskirts and the less served. She served as a Rural Health Physician of Matanao and Bansalan, Davao del Sur. She did not only serve as Rural Health Doctor, but also as an educator who has somehow changed the face of healthcare delivery in the community level in her own way.

After almost a decade of service as Rural Health Physician, she took a leap of faith and grabbed the opportunity waiting for her in Department of Health Regional Office XI as Medical Specialist for Non Communicable Diseases Cluster. This begins her journey to the corporate ladder.

In 2012, she acted as the Chief of Local Health Support Division.

In 2013, she embraced the role of an Assistant Regional Director. Bold-spirited, she hurdled countless challenges in her professional career.

She acted as Officer-In-Charge Regional Director of DOH Davao Region and subsequently appointed as the Regional Director in 2018 up to present.

Being a mother to a daughter who followed her steps in the medical society, and a supportive wife to an equally hectic government official husband, she is able to balance things surrounding her life and that she is able to put equilibrium by putting the Creator at the center of everything.

Ladies and gentlemen, please join me in welcoming, Dr. Annabelle P. Yumang.
