Editor's Note

Happy International Women's Day last March 8, dearest Ladies in Red!

It makes me proud to be a member of our Rotary Club. Continuing the legacy of the generations of women before us shouldn't pressure us, but rather, inspire us.

With that, our guest speaker was Mutya ng Dabaw 1997. But, she is more than that! You can read about her profile on page 7. An article from rotary.org also talks about a Rotarian from India who has helped many women and girls. We've included it on page 9.

The Rotary monthly observance is also Water, Sanitation, and Hygiene Month. PE Maria Vida Könst shared about it on page 6.

Cheers!

PRESIDENT'S PERSPECTIVE

*Pres.

President*

Dear Rotarians in Action,

March is a special month as we Davaoeñas celebrate Araw ng Davao.

For Rotary, March is dedicated to Water, Sanitation and Hygiene or WASH projects. The Rotary Club of Waling-Waling Davao supported this cause during the MOA Signing and Turn Over Ceremony of the Patubig sa Eskwela of the Talomo Central Elementary School. This project was in partnership with DCWD through the efforts of Past President Maria Luisa Jacinto.

March also celebrates International Women’s Month. The ladies of RCWWD supported the indigenous women weavers of Marawi through the Filipiña Batik-inspired attires during the Mystique Fashion for a Cause. This event also aimed to help the Children with disabilities from PMAG Parents Mobilization Action Group.

Here are also more activities our Rotary Club has accomplished:

- District Grant meeting with the officers of RCC Duha Day Care
- Meeting with Punong Barangay Hon. Mark Anthony Cayetano, Barangay Leaders, and RCC Community for the community assessment and livelihood program

CELEBRATING WOMEN CELEBRATING WOMEN

The 2024 recipient of Rotary International's Sylvia Whitlock Leadership Award is a successful entrepreneur, a Rotary member of 20 years, and a tireless advocate for women and girls. Manjoo Phadke, of the Rotary Club of Pune Deccan Gymkhana, Maharashtra, India, has helped more than 100,000 girls and women through her many projects.

"I've always felt that women think of themselves as 'lesser,'" she says. "I want to keep giving them confidence that they are not 'lesser,' and they can do whatever they set their minds to."

Phadke's Rotary colleagues praise her initiative and dedication.

"Manjoo's professional and social accomplishments, positive attitude, and passion have set her apart as an influential leader and catalyst for change," says Shailesh Narayan Palekar, the district Rotary Foundation chair for District 3131, who nominated Phadke for the award. "She is a lady who is very, very determined to work for young girls and women, and that is something that makes her exceptional."

Phadke has pursued numerous initiatives to support women's health, including organizing clinics to offer medical checkups and mammograms and leading campaigns to promote menstrual hygiene.

“Unfortunately, in India, women have this tendency of neglecting themselves,” she says. “For example, if there is one liter of milk, women think it should be given to the men or the boys. We have to make them understand that if the woman of the house is healthy, the entire house can be healthy.”

She has worked extensively to increase the rate of vaccination against human papillomaviruses (HPV), the cause of almost all cases of cervical cancer. Not only did she help to secure US$800,000 in grants from The Rotary Foundation to pay for vaccinations, but she also negotiated their prices directly with vaccine suppliers. She ultimately helped secure savings of nearly two-thirds off the regular price per dose.

“The cost of two doses of the vaccine was ₹8,400 [about US$100] in India at that time, which was very, very high,” Palekar says. “We wanted to do about 10 global grants to vaccinate 25,000 girls. So, she used all her negotiating skills with the vaccine companies and brought the rate down to ₹3,400 [about US$40] – about 40% of the actual rate in the market.”

The project ultimately met its target, vaccinating approximately 25,000 girls in rural and tribal areas.

Phadke also helped design and launch Project Asmita, a program that uses specially made videos and booklets to educate girls in life skills such as financial, digital, and legal literacy, as well as self-defense, nutrition, and menstrual health. The project, which also distributes free vitamins and sanitary napkins, has reached an estimated 100,000 girls and has become one of her district's signature initiatives.

Designing the program was a natural step for Phadke, who runs a vocational education institute for lower-income students called SkillArbor. The institute takes a "learn while you earn" approach, connecting participants with employers on their first day in the program. As an entrepreneur herself, Phadke says, she has a special interest in helping women who want to run their own businesses. Her district recruited about 1,000 girls for a driver's education program that enabled the participants to go into business as delivery drivers.

"We thought that if girls can be taught to drive, they can be employed as delivery girls for supply chain companies," she says. "We also gave them some vans to ferry children to school."

Phadke has conducted free workshops for women entrepreneurs for more than a decade, working closely with organizations that include the Maharashtra State Rural Livelihood Mission, the Utkarsh Welfare Foundation, and the Indira Group of Institutes. Her favorite success story was from a 17-year-old who started a business teaching other girls martial arts.

"She just started offering martial arts classes, and her business went on to become very successful," Phadke says. "She told me, 'I've now grown into a big business, and I'm earning a respectable amount of money, and everybody around me is amazed at that.' It really touched my heart."

She also helps women understand the legal system and their rights. For six years she served on the women's safety committee of the Pune police commissioner, advising 10-12 women per week on legal literacy, financial planning, and conflict resolution.

"She's been a wonderful leader," Palekar says. "People are very comfortable interacting with her and working with her." Phadke is governor of Rotary District 3131 and has served her club as president, Foundation chair, and membership chair. One of her favorite programs is Rotary Youth Leadership Awards (RYLA), which she has helped her district organize since she joined Rotary in 2003.

2024-25 THEME ADDRESS

Stephanie A. Urchick
Rotary International President-elect
8 January 2024

Hello, family of Rotary! I am honored to address the 24-25 class of district governors, the Irresistibles! And when I call you “my family,” I’m not just being kind. I really think of Rotary as my family.

I want to start today by putting a special focus on some very important members of our family of Rotary. In a couple of weeks, I’m traveling to Pakistan to meet with some amazing people: female health workers.

Ending polio everywhere means taking on this hard task, block by block, across Pakistan. It’s a difficult and, at times, dangerous mission. These women literally climb mountains to vaccinate children in remote locations. But that’s not even half of it. They fight misinformation and prejudice every step of the way.

When we finally eradicate polio in Pakistan — and everywhere — it will be due in large part to these women.

So when I arrive in Pakistan to meet with these workers, I want them to know that even though they will never meet most of you, they have your support, and you treasure their contributions. So I want you to give them a standing ovation that I can share with them on my visit ... hold on ... as soon as I get my camera ready.

In addition to your generous applause, the best way for you to support these health workers and the fight against polio is by raising awareness and raising money. It’s not too late to join or initiate a PolioPlus Society in your club or district. The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation is still matching our donations 2-to-1, but only if we meet our annual fundraising goal of US$50 million.

To help raise awareness, I need you to contact elected officials and other government leaders. Remind them that polio is still a threat. Push them to support polio eradication. Polio remains our top priority and requires our fullest commitment. But there is so much important work to do.

Thankfully, we have Rotary’s Action Plan to make our work easier and to make the club experience simply irresistible. That’s where the magic of Rotary starts. We’ll need that magic if we’re going to bring healing in a divided world. The numbers of armed conflicts and displaced people around the world are rising at an alarming rate. We need to be at our best if we want to have a positive impact.

That means we might have to change a few things about ourselves as an organization. Change can be scary, but it's easier when we change together.

With that in mind, I invite all of you to become Action Plan champions so you can change your clubs for the better and keep Rotary strong. And there's plenty of room for continuity in the Action Plan, too. It's all about building on our best ideas, not abandoning them.

Think of the Action Plan as a tool to help you improve the club experience in your district. Remember, you have influence. District governors charter clubs. You can help club leaders think creatively and produce irresistible experiences, both for existing and future members. That could mean changing how things are done in your district. If your district has been doing things one way for 50 years, it's probably time to reassess. The Action Plan helps identify a club's strengths and weaknesses and what that club can do to improve.

If a club in your district isn't active or is losing members, maybe it's time to start a new club that fits better with the community. Ask club members what they want, and bridge that with the community's needs. Just because a club or district hasn't changed in a while doesn't mean no one is hungry for change. You have an incredible opportunity as district governors to empower club members to make improvements.

Check in with club members in your district. Ask them about their club experience and what can be done to make it better. And consider talking to leaders in your communities who are not Rotary members yet but should be. Maybe they don't know about Rotary. Or perhaps the current club structure in their community is not the right fit.

You might find that some members don't feel like they truly belong in their club. That's why expanding our commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging is so important.

Anyone who has the heart and hands for service belongs in Rotary, and I hope you'll join me in opening your arms to future people of action, even if — and in some cases, especially if — they don't look or act like the typical member of your local club. With DEI, it is easier to be united in a common purpose. It's in those moments when we are committed and focused that we are the most effective and relevant.

But the work can't stop there. No one will know our clubs are irresistible if we don't tell people about them! The fact is, we need storytellers to spread our positive image and to spread Positive Peace in these troubled times.

Peacebuilding is one of my top priorities, and this IA is more than your introduction to the role of district governor. It's a call to action to support Rotary's peacebuilding programs and initiatives.

One of those programs is the Rotary Peace Fellowship — a product of The Rotary Foundation that began more than 20 years ago to help peace and development professionals end and prevent conflict.

We offer the fellowships through our Rotary Peace Centers located at leading universities around the globe. More than 1,800 peace fellows have graduated from Rotary Peace Centers and are working in more than 140 countries toward a better world.

And thanks to a US$15.5 million gift from the Otto and Fran Walter Foundation, we can continue supporting peacebuilders in more regions with the next peace center in Bahçeşehir University in Istanbul, Turkey.

The first class of fellows will arrive in Istanbul in early 2025. To mark this occasion, Rotary members, Rotary Peace Fellows, Positive Peace Activators, and others will be invited to attend a Rotary presidential peace conference planned for February 2025.

The theme of the conference (not our annual theme ... that's coming soon) will be Healing in a Divided World. This conference will focus on Rotary's peace efforts and provide opportunities to learn together.

You'll hear more about the peace conference at our convention in Singapore. I can't wait to see all of you there!

But there's so much more you and members in your districts can do to promote peace in the meantime. Members who want to spread hope for peace in their community can plant a Peace Pole in the local park, playground, or any community space. And one of my favorite tools for peacebuilding is The Four-Way Test. We would live in a better world if every Rotary member truly lived The Four-Way Test instead of simply reciting it.

Rotary members have plenty of ways to support peacebuilding efforts, but today, I want you to remember this: To spread peace around the world, we must first find peace within ourselves.

Performing acts of kindness can ease symptoms of anxiety or depression and promote social connection more effectively than any other known approach. We find joy in helping others, but we also face a tough balancing act. We must change ourselves and stay true to who we are.

That's why I have adopted the colors orange and sky blue as my theme colors. As a dominant color of autumn, orange represents the shifting of seasons — the end of one phase and the beginning of another. In fact, orange is the primary color of change.

Blue, on the other hand, is associated with knowledge and intelligence — trust, loyalty, and dependability. Blue inspires open communication. Combined, these colors represent our burning need to move forward together as we change ourselves and change the world.

With that, I've teased you long enough. Who's ready to hear the 24-25 annual theme?

All right, I'll tell you our theme. After one quick story!

Years ago, I was in the Dominican Republic helping install water filters. Two young boys watched as dirty water entered a filter in one end and emerged clean out the other end. I'll never forget the first time we stopped the water flow. One of the boys grabbed my sleeve and said, "Show me the magic again."

Obviously, the water filter wasn't magic. We worked hard to transport those filters, install them, and work with recipients in the area to maintain them. But those boys knew that easy access to clean water would change their lives. Knowing that I played a small part in that certainly changed my life.

And that is why our annual theme is The Magic of Rotary.

Now, don't misunderstand me: We are not going to grow membership, end polio, or bring peace to the world by waving a wand and saying some funny words.

It's up to you. You create the magic with every project completed, every dollar donated, and every new member inducted.

The Magic of Rotary can encourage whatever drives your local clubs. You can "grow The Magic of Rotary," if you're adding new members to our family. You can "unlock The Magic of Rotary" if you're unlocking the power of women and girls. You can "advance The Magic of Rotary" if you're fundraising to help change the world.

And when our year as Rotary president and district governors has come to an end, it's up to us to make sure there's a whole line of people behind us, ready to keep the magic going.

I love my Rotary family, and I can feel that love in this room. That's why I know you are capable of making every club in your district simply irresistible.

This International Assembly won't last forever. Make the most of even the smallest moments. The briefest connection could result in a lifelong friendship. The simplest lesson could change your entire Rotary career. Don't let these opportunities pass you by.

And when we return home, let's change the world by embracing The Magic of Rotary.

THE OBJECT OF ROTARY

The object of Rotary is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise, and, in particular, to encourage and foster:

FIRST, the development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service;

SECOND, high ethical standards in business and professions; the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations, and the dignifying of each Rotarian's occupation as an opportunity to serve society;

THIRD, the application of the ideal of service in each Rotarian's personal and community life;

FOURTH, the advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional persons united in the ideal of service.

CORE VALUES: SERVICE · FELLOWSHIP · DIVERSITY · INTEGRITY · LEADERSHIP

ROTARIAN CODE OF CONDUCT

As a Rotarian, I will:

1. Act with integrity and high ethical standards in my personal and professional life;
2. Deal fairly with others and treat them and their occupations with respect;
3. Use my professional skills through Rotary to mentor young people, help those with special needs, and improve people's quality of life in my community and in the world;
4. Avoid behavior that reflects adversely on Rotary or other Rotarians.

ROTARY'S SEVEN AREAS OF FOCUS

For more than 100 years, Rotarians have joined together from all continents, cultures, and industries to take action in our communities and around the world. With a commitment to achieving lasting change, we work together to empower youth, enhance health, promote peace, and most importantly, advance the community.

While Rotarians can serve in countless ways, Rotary has focused its efforts in seven areas, which reflect some of the most critical and widespread humanitarian needs:

1. Peace and conflict prevention/resolution
2. Disease prevention and treatment
3. Water and sanitation
4. Maternal and child health
5. Basic education and literacy
6. Economic and community development
7. Supporting the environment
